Objective: To kickstart my career as a MERN developer, applying my skills in MongoDB, Express.js, React.js, and Node.js to build dynamic web applications. Eager to learn and contribute within a supportive team environment, while continuously honing my craft to deliver impactful solutions.

Projects

Project— Online Gym Platform
I spearheaded the development of an online gym platform, where users access workout routines alongside instructional videos. My role encompassed end-to-end responsibilities, from UI design to backend implementation. I curated workout content, seamlessly integrated video features, and optimized user navigation for a streamlined fitness experience.
